LOCAL BRIEFS.

——Church notices to-day.

——Full moon to-night at 10.50.

——Cotton went up again yesterday.

——"The Writer"—thanks; but we're afraid of a sell.

——The shad season is about over. All right; tired of 'em anyhow.

——The great and crying need of this country is a hat of a size between 7 and 7¼.

——The unusually cold weather for the season is exciting grave fears concerning the cotton crop.

——A meeting of the board of trustees of the University will be held at Chapel Hill on the 6th prox.

——Twenty-six convicts left the penitentiary yesterday under guard, for the work on the Spartanburg & Asheville Railroad.

——The first crop of radishes is over; tomatoes are in bloom and snap beans are almost ready to gather in the gardens of Raleigh.

——We acknowledge with thanks an invitation to attend the closing exercises of Louisburg Female Seminary on Tuesday evening next, the 29th inst.

——J. L. Westcott, treasurer of Brunswick county, yesterday drew $173.84 from the State treasury. This was his county's share of the common school fund for 1877.

——The paucity of local matter is due more to the pressure upon our columns than to the dullness. Quiet as the city was yesterday, more news was gathered than can be gotten in this morning's paper.

——The door to Wynne's livery stable, the lowness of which came so near costing Mr. Wynne his life last winter, is being made higher. Hitherto it has been so low as to barely admit of the large Yarbrough House omnibus passing in and out.

——The curious bird which [illegible] afternoon, billed to a young dry goods clerk, has been by him given to the Oakwood Cemetery Association and placed on the beautiful lake in the cemetery. It hops like a frog and swims like a duck, and seems to be happy.

——A man in one of the jails of the State has written to Gov. Vance to go on his bond and get him out. Since he has been in office Gov. Vance has been asked to do everything that a man possibly can do, and one day or other before long a letter will come along asking of him remission of sins.

——Flannels, overcoats and fires would have been comfortable last night; but unfortunately the flannels, all tattered and torn, have been thrown into the back yards; the overcoats have been sold to assist in raising funds with which to buy summer clothes, and the money which might have been used for buying coal was spent last week for mint juleps.

Revenue Appointments.

Secretary Sherman yesterday signed the commissions of John A. Sloane and Lyndon Swain, of the Fifth North Carolina district, to be internal revenue guagers.—Washington Republican of Thursday.

Both of these gentlemen are citizens of Greensboro, and both are Democrats.

Shipment of Arms.

Arms and accoutrements were boxed yesterday at the State arsenal and will be sent to-day to the following named companies: The Iredell Blues, Anson Guards, Buncombe Riflemen, Edgecombe Guards and Washington Light Infantry. Accoutrements will be shipped at the same time to the Whiting Rifles, of Wilmington, and the Newbern Grays.

Job Osborne.

We take pleasure in recommending Mr. Osborne and his advertisements to the public. We have had occasion to notice him often in the NEWS, and each time with new assurance that he will carry out all he promises. This morning he advertises the Osborne House and Osborne's Grain & Feed Store, also a house in Cary for sale. Those interested will find Mr. Osborne safe to deal with.

A Fine Market.

It has been many a day since a finer market than that of yesterday morning has been seen in Raleigh. None of the beef was over two years old, and the supply of vegetables was full and fine. Chief of Police Lee is at the market each morning at 5 o'clock, and all the meat which enters there passes his personal inspection. We are pleased to see—and may say so in this connection—that the market house is in excellent condition. The fish stalls are clean and there are none of those disgusting odors which have at times prevailed in that locality.

More Hands.

Sheriff John G. Hill, of Forsythe, arrived yesterday afternoon, and lodged in the penitentiary the following named parties: Ed. Lineback, white, larceny, 7 years; John Williams, white, larceny, 1 year; Dow Taylor, white, larceny, 2 years; Alex. Watts, colored, larceny, 5 years; Jas. Gant, colored, larceny, 5 years; Reilly Smith, colored, larceny, 5 years; Mose Matthews, colored, larceny, 2 years; John Ellis, Jacob Wilson and Emily Banner, all colored, and all in 1 year each for larceny.

A Matter "Concarnin' of" an Overskirt.

There was only one case before the mayor's court yesterday. It was that of a colored woman who met another on the street last Sunday, and seeing on her an overskirt to which "the party of the first part" held the legal title, the aforesaid party of the first part, without any unnecessary ado or palaver, proceeded then and there to undress the party of the second part [illegible] aforementioned overskirt was concerned. For which both parties were carried before the mayor and held to bail for their appearance at the next term of court.

Taxation in Raleigh Township.

In our notice of the taxes to be paid in this township, in yesterday's NEWS, we were not quite as explicit as we should have been. While the poll tax is $2.52 in the other townships, it is $2.82 in Raleigh, and while the tax on the $100 valuation is 84 cents outside of this township, we pay 94 cents, the thirty cents additional on the poll and the ten cents additional on the $100 valuation in Raleigh township having been ordered to be levied by the action of the people of the township on the 7th inst., for the support of public graded schools.

The State Medical Society.

This body adjourned Thursday, after a pleasant and harmonious session of three days, and several of its members were in this city last night returning home from the meeting. For the well-prepared and interesting reports of its proceedings which have appeared in the NEWS, our thanks are due to Mr. Clarence E. Crist, of the Salem Press. We regret that on account of a mishap the second day's proceedings were not received by us in time for yesterday's paper; these, together with the proceedings of the last day, will be seen in the NEWS of this morning.

A Supposed Fatal Affray in Franklin.

Last Monday two men named Shopman and Brown, citizens of Franklin county, went to Franklinton to make some purchases, and returning home in a wagon late in the afternoon, both intoxicated, they became involved in a difficulty, in the course of which Shopman seized on to a new hoe which one or the other of them had bought during the day, and falling upon Brown with this, cut him in three several places on the head, inflicting wounds which it is supposed will prove fatal. A magistrate went from Franklinton yesterday to Brown's house, to take his dying deposition. Shopman has fled.

Blake's Ice.

Probably no announcement will be more gratifying to the community than that of Mr. Blake, who gives notice that he is now prepared to furnish ice in any quantity from his new stand, on Salisbury street, between Martin and Hargett. Orders left at any hour in the day will receive prompt attention. Prices as usual. *

This is True.

You who need homes or want to make money, had better go at once to see A. C. Sanders. He has Sixty Six Beautiful Building Lots in the town of Oberlin, and three Houses and Lots and one vacant Lot on the Old Fair Grounds, that he intends selling right away, and will give easy terms and sell cheap. *

M. Grausman, dealer in fancy and plain groceries, No. 29 Fayetteville street, will sell every day fresh strawberries at prices to suit the season, also meats of all sorts, coffee, sugar, teas, canned fruits, pickles, crackers, &c., &c., at the lowest possible prices. Call and examine the goods and judge for yourselves. *

The best white shirt and linen collar, $1.00 only, at Levy's. *

Ziegler's Havana Filled.

Is the best cigar for 5 cents in the market. Everybody smokes Ziegler's favorite brands. *

A Canadian Lawyer.

Hon. B. B. Oasly, of the Province of Ontario, Canada, who has been some time in the city, left yesterday. He is one of the most distinguished lawyers of the New Dominion and has attained the honor of Queen's counsel. His business here was in connection with the litigation over the Ore Hill property. Mr. Oasley was very much pleased with North Carolina,—the people and the country. He says we have here the elements of a true prosperity, and a bright future is ahead of the State. He was much pleased with the members of the bar of the Old North State, and acknowledged that, as gentlemen and as lawyers they are the peers of any with whom he ever met.

Personal.

Mr. Joseph Jones, a native of Wake, but for several years past a resident of the West India Islands, is in Raleigh again after an absence of six years. For many years Mr. Jones was a clerk in the drug store of Mr. J. Ruffin Williams, of this city. At the beginning of the war he entered the army and served to the bitter end, and then sought his fortune in another clime. He has many friends in Raleigh who are heartily glad to see him here once more.

"OLD SI."

How a Hole Can Hurt.

[Atlanta Constitution.]

A negro was convicted in our superior court the other day for hitting another negro with an axe. A party of colored savans were discussing the case in old Si's presence.

"What I wants to kno," said one of them, "is jiss dis: How ken a man hit anudder man wid de eye ob er ax?"

"Why kant he—tell me dat?" said old Si.

"Kase hit stands ter reezen, don't yer see—for de eye ob er axe is whar de handel goes in an' how is er man gwine ter 'sault anudder man wid er contempt ter murder by hittin' him on de hed wid er hole?"

This was a clincher, the other darkies thought, but old Si remarked:

"Fore de wah me an' you used ter work in de same cotton yard, didn't we?"

"Yes, we did."

"Well. I s'pose you 'members when masse Threllkill, down dar at Griffin, used ter lam' yer 'bout forty wid dat paddle dat he had?"

"Oh, you go 'way!"

"Well, dis are de pint: When he used fer ter paddle yer, an' yer used fer ter grone 'round an' complane ob de blisters whar he raised on yer, wus hit de paddle or de holes in de paddle whar raised de skin an' made yer sore? Now, whar's yer scientiffy argyment.?"

The case was settled—nobody in the negative.

The People Want Proof.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as Boschee's German Syrup for severe coughs, colds settled [illegible] ease of the throat and lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted can get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing every one that use it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sold by all druggists in the U. BUSINESS IS THE WATCHWORD.

Every salesman is engaged in selling and distributing goods to my numerous customers at "hard-pan" prices; and just here allow me to say, that on the 7th day of October, 1850, I hoisted my little mercantile flag and although small and insignificant in size at that time, it was then, and ever has been since, backed and supported by the indelible motto of which time has failed to erase.

Representing Goods as They Are,

LIVE AND LET LIVE.

That flag has gradually increased in size and speed, with its motto universally endorsed, and waves to-day with its motto ahead of competition.

The political campaign is over, the result is known; the excitement is over, so now comes the

THE Medical Convention at Salem was an entire success. The attendance was unusually large, and the discussions of a highly useful and interesting character.

THE Democrats have carried Lynchburg, Va., by a majority of 260. Heretofore, Lynchburg has gone Republican. Is the Republican party everywhere going to the dogs?

EX-GOV. AIKEN, of South Carolina is a candidate for the Collectorship of Charleston. He is understood to be one of Hayes' converts. He has heretofore acted with the Democratic party, though never taking a prominent part.

WE print elsewhere Judge Schenck's return to the certiorari from the Federal Court in the Ray case. Judge Schenck's refusal to obey the writ is based upon the same reasons that governed his action under similar circumstances in the Lynch Young case. The return in the Ray case is not a legal argument; it does not pretend to be such; but it has a State's rights ring whose vibrations will touch every nerve in the Democratic party.

ALL the intelligence from the seat of war indicates that the combatants are on the eve of very great and important events. The evacuation of Batoum; the fall of Kars and Erzeroum; the crossing of the Danube by the Russians: a declaration of war by Greece against Turkey; and a sweeping ministeria change at Constantinople, are grave events now classed among the probabilities. The situation wears a darker face for the Turks than heretofore.

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 17, 1877.

DEAR SIRS: This department is favored regularly with copies of many of the most influential newspapers of the country, and if you should desire to add yours to the number, we shall take great pleasure in placing it upon the files of the Executive office.

Very truly yours,
W. K. ROGERS,
Private Secretary.

To the NEWS, Raleigh, N. C.

We have received the above request. Presuming that the sole object of the President is to ascertain the sentiment of the people of this State and knowing that he can learn it correctly from our columns, we have cheerfully complied.

THE General Assembly of South Carolina, yielding to the views of Governor Hampton and his official associates, has passed a bill providing for the payment of the January and July coupons of the consolidated debt of the State. To pay this interest will require the levying of an extra tax on the already sorely burdened property of South Carolina. The New York Journal of Commerce says: "Better times will follow such a policy as a matter of course. South Carolina could make no stronger bid for the material aid of the North in the good future which, we trust, is before her, than by repudiating Repudiation."

IT will be a little surprising to most men to know that North Carolina actually has a sewing machine factory; that it has been in successful operation for two years; that the machines are as good if not better than those of Northern make, and find such ready sale that the manufacturers are unable to exceed the demand. Yet such is the fact. The factory to which we allude is located at Shelby, and the machine is known as the "Carolina Sewing Machine." The prosperity which has attended this enterprise adds fresh evidence of the fact that manufacturing industries are profitable in the South. Nearly everything that the people need in the matter of machinery, farm implements and the like, can be made within our own borders. The field of Southern manufacture is an inviting one for capitalists. Why do not more of them avail themselves of the golden opportunities now presented in this State?

LAWS OF 1876-'77.

The Legislature of 1876-'77 met to put in force the changes required by the Amendments to the Constitution which were adopted by the Convention of 1875, and ratified by the people at the ballot-box last fall. There were many difficulties to overcome, but that they were overcome the volume which now lies before us is an evidence. The Legislature of 1876-'77 have no cause to be ashamed of their record. Their enactments, on the whole, were eminently wise and beneficial.

As the more important acts were discussed in our columns while pending before the Legislature and published in the NEWS as soon as enacted, we shall only take a cursory glance at the volume before us to give our patrons some idea of the scope of our latest legislation. The volume embraces all the public and private laws and resolutions, and contains 855 pages. Much of the space is as usual taken up with private and local acts incorporating or amending charters of railroads, towns, masonic lodges, creating townships, &c., &c. It is to be regretted that that provision of the Constitution which forbids any legislative act of incorporation where the same end can be obtained under the existing general incorporation law of the State is not more rigidly enforced. It would save much valuable time for general legislation.

Chapter 23, Laws 1876-'77, is the usual act passed by each succeeding Legislature, unwisely extending the time for registration of deeds two years. Owing to the change of time of the meeting of the General Assembly, the two years allowed by this act will fortunately expire 12th December, 1878, before the Legislature meets again, unless there is a special session. Chapter 27 puts in force again our time-honored system of rotating the Judges. Chapter 68 contains a common sense enactment which should have been the law long ago. It provides that in an indictment for larceny of any money, United States Treasury note, or any note of any bank whatsoever, it shall be sufficient to describe such money, or treasury note or bank note simply as "money." Chapter 85 provides that when a summons is issued more than ten days before court, and is served within the ten days, it can be placed on the summons docket and carried forward to the summons docket of next term, doing away with the necessity of issuing an alias. It also provides that it is not necessary to attest a summons by the seal of the court unless issued to an officer in another county. Chapter 91 repeals the "pains and penalty" usury law passed by the Legislature of 1874-'75, and enacts forfeiture of interest as the penalty for usury. Interest is fixed as before at six per cent. with power to contract for eight. Chapter 93 is a very timely act requiring clerks and Registers of Deeds to keep indexes and cross indexes of the names of all parties to suits, deeds and other conveyances filed in their offices with penalty of not less than $50 nor more than $100 for each offense. The act requires the indexing to be completed by 1st September next and that county commissioners shall allow a proper sum for said indexing of all deeds, &c., registered before the passage of the act. Chapter 96 constitutes the North Carolina Medical Association a Board of Health with certain specified duties. Chapter 106 is the well-known act to complete the Western North Carolina Railroad, which has heretofore been published in full in the NEWS. Chapter 226 is the act to establish county government, also published by us and which is familiar to our readers. If the Legislature of 1876-77 had passed only these two acts they would have done enough to establish their reputation for wisdom and their claim to an honorable remembrance in the history of the State. Chapter 154 is the bill to establish Inferior Courts, also published by the NEWS when enacted. Chapters 155 and 156 are the Machinery and Revenue acts which though important acts are too lengthy for us to give a synopsis just here. Ch. 157 is a modification and re-enactment of the laws as to Insurance Companies. Ch. 161 is a most excellent one for whose introduction we are indebted to Senator Mebane of Rockingham. It provides that the privy examination of married women can be taken by magistrates &c., without a commission from the Superior Court Clerk as heretofore. It also fixes the fees of the justice of the peace for such examination at ten cents for each chattel mortgage and 20 cents for any other instrument and a like sum to the Superior Court Clerk for passing on the certificate of the justice. It will save much trouble to parties executing mortgages and deeds where the signature of the wife is required and reduces the cost on an average, more than a dollar in each case which of itself will be a large sum saved to the people.

Chapter 164, puts the Supreme Court Reports on sale at $3 per volume, instead of allowing them to be sold as heretofore at $7 to $8 per volume, or indeed at any price the Reporter might deem it his interest to ask. It is as important that the construction put on the laws by the Supreme Court should be sold at a reasonable figure as the acts themselves. Chapter 188 repeals the law requiring registers of deeds to make magistrates pay for the dockets furnished them, which of course the magistrates will now get free. Chapter 194 is an act to prohibit the exportation of partridges, dead or alive, from certain counties therein named. Chapter 196 allows commissioners of counties to farm out convicts imprisoned in county jails—a very wise and much needed provision. Chapter 199 regulates the manner of making election returns and contains some essential changes in the previous law. Chapter 212 is noticeable from the fact that it has crystalized a current phrase, being an act to create "Bull-Dose" township, in Greene county. Chapter 214 is the new act in regard to the Insane Asylum, which has been published by the NEWS. Chapter 216 is an act regulating sales of real estate under execution, and provides that the sale shall be at the court house on the first Monday in each month, except the month in which the Superior Court for the county is held, and then the sales shall be made during the first three days of the court. Chapter 223 is a very important statute, defining the jurisdiction of Judges of the Superior Court in granting injunctions, &c. The passage of some such act was rendered necessary by the change to the rotating system. It provides, in substance, that the judge resident in the district has the power to grant injunctions and appoint receivers, except during the time the assigned judge is holding the courts of the district, and the same rule applies to approval of decrees, &c. Either of them can issue a restraining order, and in the absence of both from the district, the judge of an adjoining district can issue such order. Chapter 224 requires that when any property in which the State is interested, as stockholder or otherwise, is to be sold by order of any court, thirty days notice in writing shall be served on the Governor and Attorney General, otherwise the sale shall be invalid. Chapter 234 establishes normal schools for both white and black. The normal school for whites to be in connection with the University. Chapter 241 provides that it shall not be necessary to make copies of summons, service to be by reading the same, and dispensing with a seal except when the summons is to be executed in another county. It also provides that in attachment cases summons need not be published nor copy of summons and complaint mailed; that it shall be sufficient to publish the names of the parties and the purpose of the action. Chapter 242 establishes the criminal court in Wilmington, and chapter 292 a similar one for Raleigh. Chapter 271 gives magistrates jurisdiction of torts, including claim and delivery &c., where the amount in controversy does not exceed $50. Chapter 253 extends the homestead, as to all debts contracted after May 1, 1877, to a fee simple. Chapter 254 gives our friends in Johnston county another chance to vote on the removal of their court house. Chapter 255 reduces the number of judicial districts to nine to take effect the first Thursday in August 1878 and provides for the election of three Supreme Court Judges and three Superior Court Judges on that day. As by some oversight a corresponding change was not made in the rotating act, a special session of the Legislature will probably have to be held to provide for the holding of the fall courts 1878. Chapter 270 provides for a commission to confer with the bondholders of the State debt and report to the Legislature. The commission has only power of recommendation. Chapter 272 establishes the State Guard. Its provisions are modeled on those in force in several of the Northern States. Chapter 274 establishes the department of agriculture and has heretofore been published by the NEWS. Chapter 275 is to regulate elections and is new in many of its features. Chapter 277 forbids the selling of paupers. The Jones county outrage rendered it necessary to pass this act to prevent a repetition of similar barbarity. Chapter 283 makes some needed amendments to the Landlord and Tenant act. Chapter 286 forbids magistrates from issuing their summons to another county unless one at least of the defendants shall live in the same county with the plaintiff. On the whole the volume reflects great credit upon the body that passed the acts contained therein. The redistricting of the judicial districts might in some respects be better. For instance the new 2nd judicial district (as it will stand after the first Thursday in August 1878) stretches from Raleigh to Newbern by way of Weldon—a complete crescent. Subsequent acts took Franklin and Beaufort counties out of the district, thus leaving Craven and Wake counties, though still belonging to the 2nd Judicial District, entirely detached from it and in the midst of other districts. Such legislation is to be deplored and can serve no good end.

The Laws have now been out several days, their publication being a month or two ahead of the usual time of late years. We have enumerated and glanced at the acts of general importance only. A close examination of the legislation will suffice to show that the session of 1876-'77 was a laborious one, and that the work was performed with care and ability.

AT the banquet of the New York Chamber of Commerce the other day, Mr. Evarts, Secretary of State, expressed himself very plainly for reform in the tariff, declaring "if we have a great deal to give and a great deal to sell to foreign nations, we may be sure that we must be willing to take a great deal in return and buy a great deal from them." He added, "Tariffs must be simple. * * * The merchant must not be the prey of entangling laws." Information comes from Washington that Mr. Evarts is urging the President to favor the restoration of the silver dollar, the admission of foreign bottoms to American registry, the remission of duties on foreign machinery for Southern manufacturers, and a revision of the tariff, including the substitution of specific for ad valorem duties. These are Democratic measures; and will command the support of North Carolina, if not every other Southern State. It is said that every one of these measures will, if the House favors them, pass the Senate and secure the signature of the President. The delegation from this State, we presume, will be solid in support of them.

GOVERNOR HAMPTON'S policy has destroyed the Republican party of South Carolina. We mentioned some days ago the very significant election of General Walker, Democrat, as Senator from Chester, a county hitherto overwhelmingly Republican. An equally if not more significant election took place in the adjoining county of Fairfield the same day. Last Fall this county elected two Republican members to the Legislature and gave Chamberlain about 600 majority. The Democrats have now carried the county by 1,200 majority and sent two members to the Legislature in place of the two Republicans, who refused to say they were sorry, and thus were shut out of the Democratic Legislature. In the Palmetto State, no white men scarcely are left in the Republican ranks; the negroes have no leaders of any account; and the whole race is disposed to give up the contest with the whites. The latter, though in a decided majority, are yet, in common parlance, "too many for them." The color line in South Carolina is smashed; and the Anglo-Saxon is again supreme.

NORTH CAROLINA VIEWS.

The Mecklenburg Declaration.

[Winston Sentinel.]

On Monday, the 21st, in Charlotte, was celebrated the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. It was a big day—with Gov. Vance and a host of others lending their presence to the occasion. Authorities have differed greatly, as to the exact date of the declaration—as much as the almanac men did, last year as to the day Easter fell upon. So, too, they differ as to whether or not Lord Bacon, (once England's greatest and meanest man,) did not write most of Shakspeare's plays. After all—what is—authority?

General Leach.

[Randolph Regulator.]

Gen. J. M. Leach is out in a long letter, denying that he is making efforts to revive the old Whig party. The General need not have written such a lengthy letter, for his pa course ought to have been conclusive as to his future.

General James M. Leach.

[Pee Dee Herald.]

As we predicted in the Herald, two weeks ago, he would do, this gentleman denies most positively, in a letter to the Raleigh Observer, the charges which have been going the rounds against him in regard to his connection with the "new party" movement. We are truly glad that he has done so; it was due to his character; to his reputation; to his friends and to his State that he should do so. His letter is quite lengthy, and embraces a number of topics, and though not quite as specific and definite on certain points as we would have been pleased to see it, is we doubt not, in the main satisfactory to the legions of admiring and trusting friends which the gallant, gifted and distinguished gentleman so deservedly possesses in North Carolina.

A REVENUE MURDER.

CONFLICT BETWEEN THE STATE AND FEDERAL COURTS.

Judge Schenck's Return to Judge Dick's Certiorari in the Ray Case.

A friend sends us the following copy of a return sent to Judge Dick, on the 21st inst., from Wilkesboro:

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, Ashe County. } Superior Court, Spring Term, 1877.

State vs. Edward Ray et al. } Indictment Murder.

To the Honorable Robert P. Dick, Judge of the District Court, Western District of North Carolina.

The clerk of the Superior Court of Ashe county has submitted to me, as Judge of the Superior Court of North Carolina, assigned to the 10th Judicial District, a writ of certiorari issued by one E. D. Hampton, who signs his name as clerk of your Court, commanding the clerk of the Superior Court of Ashe county to certify to the Circuit Court of the United States the record in the above stated case, that it might "do what of right and according to the laws of the United States may be done."

I have directed the clerks of the Superior Court of Ashe county to disobey this writ, and I assume all the responsibility of said act. I do this officially as Judge of the Superior Court of North Carolina, assigned to the 10th Judicial District, to whom the State has committed the solemn duty of executing its laws and protecting her citizens from all invasions of their constitutional rights in said district.

A similar writ was issued by your clerk and directed to the clerk of the Superior Court of Polk county, in the fall of 1876, in the Lynch Young case. I then had the honor to disregard said writ and to set forth my reasons for so doing in the return which I made to it. A written discussion ensued between your Honor and myself in regard to the subject, treating it as a "dry question of law." I have not that correspondence with me, but if I am not greatly mistaken you made two important concessions in it:

First. That "the Federal judiciary was exhausted" of further argument in reply to the positions assumed by me in my return.

Second. That if I disobeyed your writ of certiorari the law provided no remedy to enforce obedience to its mandate.

If I am in error in my recollection the correspondence will show it. Since that time I have treated the question as settled between our courts, and I shall continue to do so until I am declared to be in error by the highest judicial tribunals of the country. I can only refer your Honor to the reasons set forth in the Lynch Young case as applying fully to this.

If a murder so cruel, so unprovoked, so diabolical as this is alleged to be, can be committed "under color of a revenue officer;" if an old man, who has lived an honest and virtuous life for three score years and ten, against whom no warrant has issued and who is peaceably and quietly living at his home in the last days of a long life, can be ruthlessly and deliberately shot down, by a band of drunken desperadoes, on the soil of North Carolina where she has exclusive sovereign jurisdiction (not having ceded it to the United States Government and the crime not being committed by persons connected with the military or naval forces) and the State is powerless to punish the offenders, then indeed have we fallen on a day sad in the history of this ancient commonwealth.

The States have yet some rights not absorbed and extorted from them by the Federal Government and few though they be, they should for that reason be guarded with the more jealousy and courage by her judicial officers. I shall obey the Federal Government in the exercise of constitutional authority as a loyal citizen; but I shall ever remember with dutiful devotion, my fealty to the sovereignty of North Carolina.

If I were to concede, as others have contended, that the naked power of removal from my court to the circuit court existed but that the circuit courts had no jurisdiction to try indictments of this character after they were so removed, then it would lead to the strange and disastrous conclusion, that the State courts might originate an indictment against this privileged class of revenue officials but dare not prosecute them to trial and punishment, and that though the circuit courts might arrest the progress of the indictment in the State court and remove it to the docket of that court, yet it could not constitutionally try and punish the criminal.

This would be far from the "beneficent end which the Federal constitution was designed to accomplish." It would make the distribution of judicial powers between the State and the Federal government "a delusion and a snare" for the innocent and helpless, and a refuge for the official murderers of our citizens.

I cannot believe that we have yet arrived at such a judicial absurdity as this. I regret that I have no authorities accessible at this place as I should add to those already cited in Lynch Young's case.

I have the honor to be with great respect,

D. SCHENCK,
Judge Superior Court,
10th Judicial District.

Wilkesboro, May 21st, 1877.

Nerves that Quiver.

Headache, stomachs that inflict dyspeptic tortures, muscles and joints racked with rheumatism, are infallibly restored to health by the celebrated elixir, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine prescribed by physicians, possessing infinite purity, and which no one takes in vain who is afflicted with any of the numerous complaints to which it is adapted. It frequently happens that so-called remedies fail to produce a permanent effect. This is because they are merely palliatives, and therefore do not remove the cause of the maladies, whose symptoms they for a time cease to annoy. This is rarely the case with opiates and sedatives. It is not so, however, with Hostetter's Bitters, which are a searching and specific conquers the disease as well as banishes its victim.

NOTRH CAROLINA ENTERPRISE.

A Sewing Machine Factory at Shelby.

To the Editor of the News:

SIR: I have read with interest several articles in your paper setting before your readers the resources and improvements of our country. I am pleased with the zeal you manifest in persuading our people to become more self-relying and self sustaining. And appreciating as I do your efforts in bringing before the public Southern enterprises, I have concluded to inform you of an enterprise that is growing up in this section of our beloved old State. Though small in magnitude it shows the right spirit, and bids fair to be of lasting benefit to our country. I have reference to the Carolina Sewing Machine Works, located at Shelby, N. C.

This enterprise was started in May 1875. The proprietors, half way believing from force of precedents that nothing good could come out of Nazareth, were loth to invest heavily; consequently the manufactory was at first very small, and is yet small but will be increased from time to time as circumstances admit. Their capacity at present is about five machines per day.

That this machine is of first class make will be inferred from the fact that agents formerly selling the Wheeler & Wilson, Weed, and other first-class machines have given up their agencies and are now selling the Carolina Machine.

They now make all parts necessary for a first-class machine except needles and patent attachments. The work is executed in as good style as the best northern make.

This machine is adapted to as large a range of work as any machine sold for family use. It needs only to be seen to be admired for the simplicity of its movements, easy and smooth running.

The company have never advertised extensively for two reasons: First, they dreaded to launch out before the public in competition with the popular machines of rich northern firms, preferring the slower way of letting each machine speak for itself; and secondly, receiving a warmer reception than they had expected, they have never been able to exceed the demand.

The price of the machines range from $45 to $100.

The master machinist of this county has had twenty years experience in the manufacture of sewing machines. He was offered a position as one of the jurors of award at the centennial exhibition; but could not accept on account of pressing business.

This enterprise, though small, is a good precedent for our people. We need similar enterprises in other lines of industry. The way is open. Who will move first? The whole country stands ready to welcome your advent and aid your efforts. C. J.

The Flag of the Prophet.

(Constantinople Correspondence of the New York Mercury.)

The sacred emblem of Turkish faith will play a great role in this war. It is dark green, about two yards long and one and a half wide, and was originally a curtain in the bed chamber of Aischa, the best beloved wife of the prophet, who died in her bed. When Mohammed was on his deathbed and about to take leave of his Generals, who were about to enter upon a new campaign against the heathen, the dying prophet gave them the curtain that overhung his bed as a battle flag, so that the faithful should forever remember that they were doing battle for God and His prophet. Ever since that time, whenever the Caliphs went into battle they took this flag with them, but in later years it was resolved to carry this holy relic into battle only whenever a war of religion was being waged. In 1583 the same flag waved from the walls of Vienna, and again whenever the cause of Islam had to be defended it was unfurled to rally the faithful and encourage then to deeds of heroism. What, however, is the most important feature of this flag is the belief that any Mussulman who fights and falls under its shadows dies as a martyr, for whom the portals of heaven are opened at once. From the Caliphs of old this banner has been sacredly retained by the Sultans of our day, in order to inspire still more zeal in their soldiers. Yesterday the unfolding of this time-honored banner took place with great pomp and ceremony by the Sultan, Abdul Hamid, in person, who handed it to the Scheik-El-Islam in solemn trust. The latter was mounted on a horse literally covered with gold, and, while holding the sacred banner in his hand, he was accompanied by the Sultan, himself also on horseback, with sword in hand, through the principal streets of Constantinople. Couriers and heralds preceded the two high dignitaries of state, and, pointing to the unfurled banner, loudly proclaiming to the people that the war for the faith had commenced. This morning the same relic—which the Turks regard with the same holy awe as the Israelites of old did the Ark of the Law—was sent under heavy escort to the Danube, there to lead the Turkish hosts to battle for Allah and his prophet.

Who is Right?

To the Editor of the News:

There has been some rather harsh criticism on Judge Cox's decision as to the constitutionality of an Act of Congress. The matter has not generally been treated by the press as a legal question, but as a political one. An upright Judge, like Cox, cannot consider on the bench the political side of a question, but is bound by the law as it stands. The constitution of the United States reads, art. 6, "That the laws of Congress passed in pursuance of the constitution are the supreme law of the land, and the judges of every State shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution and laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding."

Judge Cox has not decided that a revenue officer cannot be tried in the State courts, as was stated in the NEWS of yesterday, but merely that the act of 1866 is constitutional and that he is bound by it. He does not claim to be a NULLIFIER.

Whether that act is constitutional or not is a dry, legal question, involving a discussion of intricate constitutional law. It is claimed that Chief Justice Marshal, who is admitted to have been the greatest constitutional lawyer of America, has decided in effect that such an act is constitutional. The editor of the Hillsboro Recorder, and some other equally as worthy gentlemen, appear to differ with Chief Justice Marshal. Perhaps they are right; but if so, why don't they state their reasons? Why don't they give the public the benefit of their learning in discussing this question on constitutional law? Again, why did not Robbins, Vance and Scales ask Congress to repeal this unconstitutional and bad law? JUSTICE.

RUSSIAN CELERITY -- THE MILITARY SITUATION CRITICAL.

MARTIAL LAW IN CONSTANTINOPLE.

SHEEP TAX DOUBLED—THE SOFTAS DEMAND MINISTERIAL CHANGES.

The Commander at Ardahan Charged with Treason.

Retreat of Mukhtar Pasha.

CONFLICTING REPORTS—ON TO ARDAHAN AND ON TO ERZEROUM.

CAPTURE OF A RUSSIAN WAR VESSEL.

THE FORCE OF ABDUL KERIM

ERZEROUM, Wednesday night.—The Russian movements have been amazingly rapid. It is impossible to follow them or describe the exact situation. It is impossible to exaggerate the critical importance of the military situation at this moment.

LONDON, May 25.—A Reuter's from Constantinople says that in consequence of the Softa demonstration yesterday a state of siege has been proclaimed in Constantinople and the vicinity of the city.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 25.—The sheep tax has been doubled as a war contribution. An order was issued simultaneously with the proclamation of the neutrality law, which forbids the carrying of arms and authorizes domiciliary visits of the police in quest of arms; also authorizes the banishment of suspected persons without previous trial, and forbids the assembling of crowds in the streets. About two thousand Softas participated in yesterday's demonstration. The five Softas who were admitted to the chamber accused Hussien Pasha, commander at Ardahan, of treason and demanded his arraignment. Several deputies spoke demanding ministerial changes and the appointment to office of men of known capacity.

LONDON, May 25.—A Reuter from Constantinople says it is stated there that Mukhtar Pasha is marching upon Ardahan, while the Russians are rapidly advancing against Erzeroum.

WAR NOTES.

Preparations for war continue in Servia.

A religious war has been proclaimed in Bosnia.

Russia is adopting measures for the gradual mobilization of the entire army to crush Turkey by superior strength. Russia has probably postponed an attempt to cross the Danube in force until the middle of June.

Mukhtar Pasha has been unable to hold the mountain passes between Kars and Erzeroum. He retreats without giving battle.

The English commission with the Turks in Asia is represented as fearing Erzeroum will not be able to hold out long.

The Turks captured and burned a small Russian war vessel near Isladi.

Abdul Kerim Pasha, after garrisoning the fortresses, will have but 75,000 men for the field.

The two repulses of the Russians before Kars are confirmed but the third assault was progressing at last accounts.

THE AMERICAN PILGRIMS.

Reception of the Pilgrims by His Holiness.

DISTINGUISHED AMERICAN PRELATES PRESENT.

AN ADDRESS OF THE POPE—HE GIVES THE AMERICAN NATION HIS BLESSING.

ROME, May 25.—The American pilgrims who were received by the Pope to-day numbered fifty ecclesiastics and one hundred and fifty lay members, and were led by the Archbishop of Philadelphia and the Bishops of Alleghany, Natches, Albany, Louisville, Galveston, Detroit, Green Bay, Hartford and other dioceses. About one hundred and thirty American Catholic residents and visitors were also present, with students of the American college and American students of the Propagandas. After an address they were presented to the Pope, who was seated on the throne. His Holiness replied that he remembered how an eminent cardinal had told him at the commencement of his Pontificate that from America would come great comfort to the Church. He now saw the fulfilment of that prediction. He spoke in great praise of the American nation, the great things it had accomplished, and how in the flower of its youth it had acquired strength sufficient to arouse the jealousy of European nations. But there were errors of youth in nations as in men, and he would remind them of two he had noticed in them: Too great precipitancy in pursuit of material things and a too proud feeling of independence. They pride themselves on being Republicans. (Here there was a laugh in which the cardinals joined.) But they must remember that all must bow the head to enter Paradise. They must be humble and not let material things interfere with prayer. He blessed all the American people; Catholics, that they might continue firm in the faith; Protestants, that they might be illuminated, and prayed that good might descend in abundance upon them all.

MORTON SPEAKS.

He Writes a Letter--Explains His View of the Kellogg and Packard Cases---Believes Hayes Patriotic, and Sneers at the Idea of a New Party.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Morton publishes a letter on the situation in answer to an open letter published in the New York Times and other private letters. He says, regarding the credentials of Kellogg, after they had been referred to his committee: "The committee on Privileges and Elections met soon afterward, and the Republican members united in a report that prima facie S. B. Packard was the lawful Governor of Louisiana; the Legislature was the lawful Legislature and that Wm. P. Kellogg had been elected in conformity to the act of Congress and was entitled to be sworn in and take his seat. As a number of the members of the Senate were absent, and the subject would lead to a long debate and there was general anxiety to adjourn, the report was not laid before the Senate. If the majority of the Senate shall at the next session be of the opinion that Kellogg was lawfully elected by the Legislature of Louisiana he will be entitled to his seat, notwithstanding the events that have since occurred. No subsequent breaking up of that Legislature, combination or arrangement can in the leas affect his title or destroy the legality of what took place at that time, though the very members who proclaimed the election of Packard and made that of Kellogg should subsequently declare that of Nicholls and take part in the election of Spofford. It is too clear for argument that they could not take away the rights which they had, or make that unlawful which had been before lawful. Unless Kellogg voluntarily withdraws, the Senate will have to decide the question of his election as it stood at the time of adjournment. The Republican governments of Louisiana and South Carolina have yielded to force. They have gone down before an armed minority, whose threats of future violence were guaranteed by a long train of bloody deeds done in the past. I regret that the real character of the transaction should be obscured in the least by pretended investigations or negotiations. Stripped of all disguises and pretences the simple fact is that Packard and Chamberlain were not able to maintain themselves in authority, and the government of the United States, in the exercise of its discretion, refused them its support. Then the Legislatures, finding themselves defenceless, fell to pieces, and from their ruins in part new Legislatures have been constituted whose legality consists only in the fact that there are none to oppose them. The law and the right of the majority have yielded to an armed aggressive minority."

Morton, after describing what Grant might have done, intimates that had Hayes proceeded to maintain Packard and Chamberlain by using the army, he would have proceeded to inevitable defeat. He says: "The Republican majority in the Senate upon the Southern question is but nominal, if it existed at all. Five Republican Senators voted at the late executive session against seating Kellogg and to refer his credentials to a committee, thus refusing to recognize the Packard government; and a number of Republican Senators, sufficient when added to the Democratic members to constitute a majority, have steadily refused to recognize the Republican State government in Louisiana since 1873, by voting against seating a Senator chosen by it. While in my judgment it was clearly the right of the President under the constitution to recognize the Packard government and support it by military power, the undertaking would have been futile and the failure disastrous. With divided public opinion in his own party, and both houses of Congress against him, he would have failed in the end. The Democratic House has power to destroy the army entirely and from my knowledge of the Senate I am sure the Republican majority of that body could hardly be relied on to support him in such a course."

(Extract): "I do not believe that President Hayes intends to destroy the Republican party and attempt the erection of a new one upon its ruins. I believed in his patriotism and high integrity; in his undivided purpose to make the administration a beneficience to the country."

(Extract): "The large body of the white people who engaged in the rebellion are firmly united in favor of several things, and they will stand by the party that favors them and oppose to the bitter end the party that opposes them. Among these is the payment for rebel property taken or destroyed by our armies. When Mr. Tilden wrote his letter just before the election against these claims, he lost his hold upon the South and was made to feel it in the late struggle in Congress. No Democratic candidate will repeat his blunder."

(Extract): "In the late House the dividing line between rebel and loyal claims was ignored, and in a single Democratic administration would be obliterated. When this comes to pass about claims, the distinction in rebel and union debt will be obliterated and lost; slaves will be treated as other property sacrificed by our goverument. It will not all be done or advanced at once, but step by step already more rapid, until the public mind has become demoralized. The rebellion has ceased to be a crime, scarcely a mistake; the complete restoration of the fraternity will demand abolition of all distinction, in law between loyalty and treason. The Republican party was never more necessary to the nation than it is to-day. All talk about laying down the Republican organization to take up a new one with a new title, into which old Confederates may enter without wounding their susceptibilities, would be criminal if it were not supremely silly."

J. M ROSENBAUM

Has been so long engaged in business in Raleigh that he feels confident that he knows exactly what kind of goods will suit his customers. Besides that, he knows the

TIMES ARE HARD

and that for the present season, at least, nobody can sell goods without putting them down to the Very Lowest Figures.

To meet the demands of the times and the tastes and wants of his customers, he has recently visited the Northern cities, where he purchased consisting of Men's, Youth's, Boy's and Children's Clothing, in suits or separate—Coats, Vests or Pants—as you desire.

A LARGE SUPPLY OF

In Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods

I have a larger stock than ever, from the finest to medium and common, and in fact every thing a gentleman needs to wear.

All the above and a thousand other articles of

STAPLE AND FANCY GOODS

too numerous to specify in an advertisement were bought in large quantities and will be sold cheap for the same.

I am thankful for the liberal patronage I have heretofore received from the good people of Raleigh and the surrounding country, and hope by suiting my goods and prices to the wants and pockets of my customers, to merit and receive a continuance of their favors

Very respectfully,

MERCHANT TAILORING.

A NEAT AND WELL-FITTING DRESS

Always strikes the beholder favorably, but the finest material, if the make-up is slouchy and ill-fitting, gives rise to a feeling of repulsion at once; and, as first impressions are always most lasting, it should be a matter of solicitude with every man to procure, first, the best material his means will afford, and, by all means, have it made up in the prevailing style and to fit his person neatly.

C. WEIKEL,

being aware of the necessity of this, has won the honor of leading his profession. To be fully up to the times he has engaged the services of late from England. Mr. Boult was the celebrated pantaloons cutter of London, and can clip the cloth for a coat or vest equal to any one on the continent.

My stock of
